

Kids Footprint Characters Cards

When you have kids, getting everyone on your list a little something can be pretty difficult. So to help check off everyone off your list include your kids in this easy DIY project. Get together an assortment of colored paint as well as markers, googly eyes and red pom poms. From there you can paint your babies' feet brown and make a Rudolph. The kids can even make ornaments in his horns with their finger tips. Use the google eyes and red pom pom to make his face. If reindeer and Rudolph are not your speed than you can make some "mistle toes." Paint the kids' feet green and make a ribbon on the top. All your friends will love the funny holiday pun. We don't always have the time to get presents for everyone, these cards will be a thoughtful project that will show everyone you care about that you are thinking of them through the holiday season.
